RELATED WORK

Founding Member, Coalition to Expand Voting Rights. 2003 to date. The New York Coalition to Expand Voting Rights is a broad and growing coalition of individuals and organizations working to enact legislation that will give immigrants the right to vote in municipal elections. Resident voting promotes civic participation and enhances democracy; gives voice to one of the last disenfranchised segments of the population; and increases government accountability in communities with large immigrant populations. <http://ivotenyc.org>

Member, New York State Board of Elections Help America Vote Act (HAVA) Implementation Task Force. February, 2009 to June, 2009. Assisted staff of New York State Board of Elections in drafting plan to implement HAVA in New York State, including amending previous state plan. <http://www.elections.state.ny.us>

Co-Founder, Immigrant Voting Project. 2004 to 2009. The Immigrant Voting Project was a resource to advance discussion about the practice of noncitizen voting in local elections -- often referred to as "resident voting" -- which was widely practiced in American history and which is making a revival today. Organized conferences, community forums, focus groups, a survey, produced a broad range of materials, provided technical assistance to advocates across the country, presented testimony at public hearings, wrote reports, and materials for the press. Archive of the project is maintained on the website: www.immigrantvoting.org

Consultant, Demos: A Network of Ideas and Action. 1999 to 2005. Author of "The Representation Crisis: Immigration, Citizenship, and the Future of American Democracy." Conducted research on democracy in the U.S. with focus on state level political processes and institutions. Participated in organizing conferences, workshops, and in writing reports and several publications that focus on the health of democracy in the states as measured by a broad set of indicators and data. Also assisted in formation of a network of academics, policy makers at all levels of government, and community-based organizations who are engaged in democracy building. www.demos-usa.org

Expert Witness, Emery and Associates, Summer 2003, to December, 2003. Expert Witness in Redistricting Lawsuit, Rodriguez v Pataki. U.S. Southern District Court.

Expert Witness, The Brennan Center. December, 2002 to February, 2003. Expert Witness in Green Party of New York v. Board of Elections. New York Supreme Court

Lead Researcher and Expert Witness, NAACPLDF. Spring, 2002 to Fall, 2002. Hired two assistants and coordinated and conducted research about the impacts of election practices on voter participation in the 2000 presidential election in Florida. Rebuttal Expert Witness in the NAACP v. Harris lawsuit, which was settled in 2003.

Consultant, The Century Foundation. Fall, 2001 to Summer, 2003. Commissioned to research and write two reports: one about the 2001 New York City Elections. (September, 2002); The second about the Help America Vote Act (HAVA) as it pertains to New York (Summer, 2003).

Consultant, The Aspen Institute Roundtable on Community Change. 1998 to 2003. Wrote critical analysis of two sets of literatures: one on immigration, and a second on regionalism. Papers on both subject areas were published by the Aspen Institute in 2000 and in 2002. Member of project team of scholars and practitioners that examined what we call “Structural Racism.” Present findings to the Aspen Roundtable Board of Directors and at conferences of scholars and practitioners working in the community building field. Convene groups of researchers and practitioners to formulate further research and to develop strategic plans and pilot programs in several sites in the country.

Coordinator, New York City Voter Assistance Commission, (VAC), January, 1993 to January, 1996. Responsible for this nonpartisan city charter agency—comprised of mayoral appointees, City Council representatives, and agency commissioners—mandated to facilitate voter participation through government agencies and community based organizations. Designed voter registration and education programs for thirty city agencies and dozens of community-based non-profit organizations. Wrote New York City's “motor voter” law, conducted focus groups and training workshops for agency personnel and non-profit groups, produced public service announcements for television and radio networks, and produced periodic and annual reports.

Consultant, Gubernatorial Campaign of Peter Vallone, New York City Council Speaker. 12/97 to 3/98. Coordinated advisory boards of scholars and policy experts and conducted research into several policy issue areas—education, health care, and economic development—for a briefing book for candidate Vallone.

Consultant, 1199 Hospital and Health Care Workers Union. Spring, 2000. Wrote a critical review of the voter participation literature and provided an analysis of the main models of voter registration and get-out-the-vote efforts in the U.S. Produced a model program of best practices that the union could implement.

Faculty Advisor, Mock City Council for College Now high school students, coordinated by the CUNY Internship Program in Government. Fall, 2002 and Fall, 2003.
